Dear Sir/Ma'am:

The Coharie People are happy to announce our 52nd Coharie Indian Cultural Pow wow on Friday, September 9, 2022 – Saturday, September 10, 2022. The event will be held at the Coharie Tribal Grounds, 7531 N US Hwy 421, Clinton, NC. We are looking forward to a large number this year as well.

We ask for your support this year by purchasing an ad that will be featured in the Pow Wow Book. Please see the ad contract attached and respond. For information or questions please contact Vickie Newton or by email atvnnewton@gmail.com.

The annual Pow Wow celebrates the heritage and historical culture of the Coharie People. It consists of American Indian dancing, drumming, arts, crafts, native and non-native foods, and several educational aspects (i.e. health fair, tribal community gardens and Coharie River projects). Several tribes from all over North Carolina and the United States will attend and participate in competitive dancing and drumming. The Pow Wow provides an array of different cultural experiences and exhibits for native and non-native people alike. We welcome the general public to come participate in our inter-tribal dances and to learn about the culture of the Coharie People. It is a weekend of entertainment, education, and fun for everyone.

Thank you for your continued support.
